UNIVERSITY FARMERS INSTITUTE

Enthusiastic and Overflowing Sessions.

Yesterday was a gala day for Covina,
the occasion being the holding of a University Farmers Institute under the auspices of the University of California. From early morning strangers and ranchers flocked into the city by train and team and the attendance at the opening session exceeded the most sanguinary expectations.

Among the notable visitors were Prof. L. H. Bailey, of Cornell University; A. H. Naftzger, president of the Southern California Fruit Exchange; Prof. A. J. Cook, of Claremont; C. A. Day, president of the Pasadena Farmers Club; E. O. Kennard, of Glendora; A. P. Griffith, of Azusa; J. W. Mills, superintendent of Experiment Station, Pomona; Dr. S.
M. Woodbridge, mayor of South Pasadena; H. A. Palmer, Claremont; Hermon Copeland, superintendent of Land & Town Co., San Diego; Nelson Ward, Compton, the largest apple grower in the county; F. M. Dolge and sons of Lamanda; Hon. W. S. Melick, Pasadena; C. M. Heinze, editor of Rural Californian; G. H. A. Goodwin
editor of Cultivator; J. W. Jeffrey, Horticultural Commissioner of Los Angeles County.

The morning session opened punctually at 10 a. m. in Independence hall, which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion with palms, potted plants, flowering shrubs and citrus and deciduous fruit. The committee which performed this work so well consisted of Messrs. C. E. Bemis, E.
G. Clapp, and Walter Wheeler.

The first number on the program was a cello solo by Mr. Paul Jennings, who was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. S. H. Jennings. This was followed by the invocation by Rev. S. H. Eneyart. The address of welcome was delivered by the Rev. J.
W. Utter, pastor of the Christian Church, who in a most happy manner on behalf of the citizens of Covina extended a warm welcome to the large gathering of visitors who were present on this occasion. A brief but appropriate response was made by Prof. A. J. Cook, who took occasion at this time to urge upon the ranchers of Covina the organization of a local Farmers Club. J. W. Jeffrey, secretary of the Horticultural Commission of Los Angeles County, read an interesting paper on the work of the Commission in which he showed the excellent work which was already being done by the members of this Board and asked that their hands might be uplifted and the usefulness of their work extended by the earnest co-operation of the individual ranchers in their work. This was followed by a paper on fumigation prepared by W.
R. Lowry and read by Prof. J. J. Morgan. At the close of this paper photographs were exhibited showing the results obtained both by fumigation and spraying. The photographs showed the orchard of W. F. Stearns, of National City, manufacturer of the X Ray Distillate; the tree being practically bare of leaves, the result of spraying, while another picture taken of an orchard within a hundred yards of the first, which had been fumigated showed a luxuriant foliage and growth. This paper produced considerable discussion as to the advisability of daylight or night fumigation.
Mr. Lowry claimed that fumigation should be done at night as daylight has a disturbing effect upon the chemical combinations and interferes to some extent with the result. On the other hand Mr. F. M. Chapman, who owns an eighty acre orange grove in Covina, claims that he can secure as good if not better results by daylight fumigation. He said, "It is essential for success that the tree should be dry and this can seldom be secured at night on account of fog." Miss Stavfer of Covina, rendered a piano solo with artistic effect, receiving long and hearty applause.
F. M. Chapman delivered an address on irrigation, confining his remarks

Winning Its Way.

The Sunday Magazine issued by the Los Angeles Herald in connection with its big Sunday issue each week is steadily winning its way into the favor of the public in this part of the country. It is a 22-page magazine, and contains a great amount of original intensely interesting matter. It has the George Ade stories, and other matter from the best of the syndicates also. The half-tone illustrations are one of the most attractive features.

On Friday of last week a merry tally-ho party of Pomona young people drove over from that city and partook of an excellent lunch served by our host Villinger of Hotel Ven-dome. The drive was given in honor of Miss M. Moore of Oakland, the young people being chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Alva Lawrence. The party consisted of E. T. Bishop, A. S.
Smith, J. M. Powers, T. L. Lorbeer,
Frank Wells, Ruby B. King, Elizabeth C. Wells, Mary L. Moore, Elizabeth Lee, Cornelia Bowen, Mike Regan, J. Lorbeer, Ethel Howard and Prof. O. B. Howard.

has decided to build a residence on the same and move here.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs.
J. H. Coolman, at their beautiful residence on Park Place, entertained a few friends in honor of Mrs. Bristow.
Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs.
O. W. Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E.
Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F.
Brooks. The evening was spent at cards, refreshments being served by the hostess.

On Sunday last the following party from this place made a trip to Mount

GREAT INCREASE IN TRADE

Exports of Fiscal Year Make a Great Record

Closer Relations Promised by New Water Lines—Another Obstacle to Exports to Germany

Washington.—Exports from the United States to all American countries and the islands south of her boundaries, show a marked increase in the fiscal year just ended. They exceed those of any other year in the history of American commerce. This statement just made by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics is especially interesting in view of various efforts being made for closer business, commercial and transportation relations between the United States and its neighbors to the south. New lines of steamers recently have been put on between the Pacific Coast of the United States and the western coast of Mexico and Central and South America.

A recently-published statement indicates that the great financial interests of the United States has obtained control of the nearly-completed trans-continental line connecting Argentina with Chile. The establishment of additional direct steamship lines between the eastern coast of the United States and South American ports is under discussion, and the opening of an all-isthmian canal would give a straight line of water communication from the eastern coast of the United States to the western coast of South America. All these movements in the direction of closer relations between the United States and its southern neighbors add interest to the announcement that our exports to those countries in 1900 are larger than those of any preceding year.

The growth of exports from the United States to Central and South America have not kept pace in the past with the growth in other directions. The total exports to South America in 1900 were no more than those of 1890, being in each of those years in round numbers, $33,000,000, while the same statement holds good with reference to Central America, the total exports from the United States to Central American States being in 1890 and 1900, in each case in round numbers, $5,000,000; to Mexico and the West Indies, our exports in the decade, 1890 to 1900 show the greatest increase, being: To the West Indies, in 1890, $33,000,000, and in 1900, $47,000,000, and to Mexico in 1890, $13,000,000 and in 1900, $34,000,001. The fiscal years 1900 and 1901 shows a much greater increase of our sales to our neighbors to the southward than any preceding years. The total exports to Mexico, Central and South America, and the West Indies in 1899 were $103,000,000; in 1900, $127,090,000, and in 1901 $138,000,000 in round numbers. Thus the figures of 1901 are $35,000,000 greater than those of 1899, while the 1899 figures are only $1,000,000 greater than those of 1898.

LYNCHING AND FIGHT

Preacher Phillips a Mob's Victim—White Men Held up by Negroes

Cleveland.—On July 21 at 1:30 o'clock a band of armed negroes, one of whom was known, rode into Cleveland, and stopping a party of three white men on the street, made threatening demonstrations. Being called upon to give their names they answered by bringing their rifles into play. One of the negroes was killed on the spot, another was wounded, and it is reported his body was found on the outskirts of town, and the others escaped, although it is supposed that more than three were hurt. They were armed with Winchester rifles, and were well mounted.

Excitement was at fever heat during the remainder of the night. Squads of armed men patrolled the streets until daylight.

The trouble grew out of the lynching of Jesse Phillips, the colored preacher, in the earlier part of the night. The negroes in this section are organized into "lorges," "secret orders" and "protective societies," and as Phillips was a leader among them, it was feared that an attempt would be made to avenge his death. The fact had developed that the killing of young Reid was a studied scheme on the part of the negroes.

It has been decided that the breaking up of these negro organizations is necessary, and there is no doubt that this decision will be enforced. The town is quieter today than is usually the case, even on Sunday.

WHITE MAN TURNED YELLOW.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogarty of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. His malady was yellow jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merit for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 50 cents. Sold by Dr. F. B. Elwood, druggist.

IT DAZZLES THE WORLD.

No discovery in medicine has ever created one-quarter of the excitement that has been caused by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. Its severest tests have been on hopeless victims of consumption, pneumonia, hemorrhage, pleurisy and bronchitis, thousands of whom it has restored to perfect health. For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Hay Fever, Hoarseness, and Whooping Cough it is the quickest surest cure in the world. It is sold by Dr. F. B. Elwood, who guarantees satisfaction or refunds money. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Fast Globe Trotting

Chicago.—Charles Cecil Fitzmorris, the seventeen-year-old Chicago school boy who was one of three lads sent out by W. H. Hearst, the newspaper proprietor in an attempt to break the record for the trip around the world, arrived here at 6:55 a.m. today on time, which breaks previous records made by George Francis Train and Nellie Bly.

He was met at the Union Depot by his parents, Acting Mayor Block, Col. William Cody and numerous friends, but he tarried only a moment, as a carriage was waiting to whisk him to 214-216 Madison street the point from which he started. At this point it was announced that the young man had made the trip of 29,545 miles in exactly sixty days, thirteen hours, twenty-nine minutes, forty-two and four-fifths seconds, winning easily from his competitors sent out from New York and San Francisco. The time given includes delays and stops equal to about six days.

Some of the longer stages of his journey were made as follows: Chicago to New York, 900 miles, twenty-five hours; New York to Queenstown, 2850 miles, five and one-third days; Moscow to Irkutsk by rail 3800 miles, nine days; Ust Shilka to Khabarovsk, by steamer, 1100 miles, seven days; Vladivostok to Yokohama by steamer, 1500 miles, five days; Yokohama to Victoria, 4114 miles, eleven days; Seattle to Chicago, 2300 miles, three and one-half days.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The unpleasant after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

which strengthens the whole digestive system

An Earthquake Alarm.

The Japanese are said to have discovered that a few seconds previous to an earthquake the magnet temporarily loses its power, and they have ingeniously constructed a light frame supporting a horse-shoe magnet, beneath which is a cup of bell metal. The armature is attached to a weight, so that upon the magnet becoming paralyzed the weight drops and, striking the cup, gives the alarm. Every one in the house then seeks the open air for safety.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PLANNING A SURPRISE.

Pathos and Pleasure in the Pursuits of an Aged Couple.

"Let me tell you a story of human interest," said a real estate man to a reporter. "A few months ago a man and his wife, people to whom nothing has come without much labor, came to my office and made the first payment on the house which they had long been occupying as tenants. They were very happy to be able to buy their home, and the way they laughed about it and talked of the sacrifices they had made to accomplish it stopped the work of every clerk in the office and somehow made us feel as though the sun were shining through the windows, although the day was dark outside."

"In a few days, when we had about forgotten the transaction, we were surprised with a visit from the old wife. 'Do you know,' she said to me after glancing about to see that we were alone—'do you know, I've been thinking that I can save enough money from my allowance to buy that 60 foot lot adjoining ours on the south. It will make such a splendid playground for the children, and I can have it about paid for when our house is deeded to us clear. It will be so good for the children,' she continued quietly and then, after a pause, 'and it will surprise Henry too.' Well, we closed the deal for the lot on the south, and she went away happy. It was a beautiful scheme, we thought, and one in which, from business motives, we took much interest."

"But that isn't all. A few days ago the old man came in, his face wreathed with smiles. 'I've been figuring it all out,' he began confidentially. 'I've 'held out' so much in the past that I'm going to keep it up. I want to buy the 30 feet lot on the north side of our house. I can have it paid for by the time my wife and I have a deed to the house. I want to get a play room for the children. God bless them! They've been a lot of trouble, but they're worth it, and it will be such a surprise to Martha.'"

"While he had been talking I didn't know whether to laugh or to wipe my eyes. The girl clerks, too, who knew the story well by this time and had been listening intently, now found that something on the street demanded their attention, and one was trying to rub some dust from her eyes. 'All right,' I said, 'you can have it.' Now, you may not believe it," the real estate man concluded solemnly, "but it's a fact, I knocked off my commission on that sale. Such occurrences are so rare in real life that they should be encouraged. I should like to be present when those two spring their surprises."—Washington Star.

SMALL BOY AND THE HORSE.

Acts that Stamp the Human with the Badge of Nobility.

What nuisances these small boys are sometimes. The streets are full of them. They play tricks upon us. They snowball our tall hats. They steal up behind us and pincer our backs with "I am blind," or "Wanted to buy 100 cats." We are made aware of it only by the people who pass us, stopping and pointing and sniggering at us. How angry we are! And then we discover peeping around the corner three or four small boys. They are so comical we burst into a laugh; that is, if we are wise, and remember that we have been boys ourselves some time in the past. And so the incident passes with the comment, "Boys will be boys."

For our part, we like small boys. We can get along with their pranks. We can endure the noise they make, muddy footprints on the carpet, pillow fights in the morning when we would like to sleep, the new suits all bedraggled and muddy with holes in the knee, the stubbed toe that must be washed and done up, bedlam in the house in general. Why this moralizing upon the subject of the small boy? you ask. Just this. We saw a small boy, as we were passing along the crowded street, stop and caress a horse. It was not a royally bred, high-toned beauty, but an ordinary work horse, standing wearily by the sidewalk waiting for "Get up here," and perhaps the lash of the whip. The boy was eating an apple. He stopped and patted the horse. He gave him a part of his apple. He caressed his nose, placing it against his face. You should have seen the mutual quick understanding between horse and boy.

Would we trust that boy? Surely we would with uncounted money. His frank, honest face, his eyes speaking sympathy and kindness, intelligence and pent-up fun and life, were an index of his character and natural bent that were unmistakable. Boys, you are soon to be men. Such incidents as the above are worth your consideration. They are indexes of what you are and what you may hope to be. They have a reflex influence upon you, too, that will help you in after years. The boy was understood by the horse; the observing man understood the boy as well.—Boston Traveler.

THE RHYTHM OF EARTHQUAKES.

John Milne's Advice to Builders in Shaky Countries.

Earthquakes have their pitch, and if persons living in lands of seismic disturbances will build their houses out of tune with mother earth's shivers they will be comparatively safe.

This is what John Milne, or "Earthquake Milne," as he is called, says. Mr. Milne is the principal member of the seismic section of the Royal Society, and has for a long time been studying earth vibrations at Newport, Isle of Wight, where he has instruments so delicate that they automatically record vibrations so slight that it is impossible to detect them in any manner with the senses alone. His records show that the whole earth shivers every fifteen seconds.

By means of his "horizontal pendulums," as he calls them, he has ascertained the pitch of earthquakes, and so advises that buildings be out of tune with them to insure protection, but different portions of the building should have the same pitch, or our earthquake disturbance will be sure to injure them. In earthquake countries he advises deep ditches around houses to cut off the ripples along the earth's surface.

Mr. Milne has made yet another discovery, and says he has demonstrated that the interior of the earth is neither hollow nor liquid, but is marvelously rigid, even more rigid than cast steel or the finest glass. He says that his horizontal pendulums have registered vibrations that have traveled through the very center of the earth, and at a rate much higher than if the globe's interior were more dense than the most rigid mineral known.

As he says, vibrations do not travel rapidly through gases or fluids, and very much more rapidly through dense materials. They travel through glass as quickly as through any substance scientists know of, but through the earth's interior they travel two and one-half times as fast as through glass.

The Toad in the Rock.

Of late days I have noted, says a recent writer, a considerable number of reputed cases of the occurrence of live frogs and toads in what were alleged to be solid rocks. This is, of course, an old, old story that appears to possess perennial powers (like the toad of redivivification). I had thought that Dean Buckland (father of the genial Frank) had exploded the toad in the rock myth once for all. The Dean inclosed toads and frogs in cells cut in blocks of stone, and buried them three feet deep in his garden. Here the conditions were even less rigorous than those under which the amphibians are reported to survive for ages in the "solid rock." Dean Buckland's toads were nearly all dead by the end of the first year of entombment, and none survived the second year.

Many a man suspected of having a hidden sorrow is simply tired of frivolity.

ECZEMA

Eczema sets the skin on fire. The acid poisons in the blood are forced out through the pores of the skin, causing intense redness, burning and itching. So terrible is the itching at times, especially when the body is overheated, that the almost distracted sufferer feels that he could tear the skin to pieces, and that he must scratch or go crazy. He knows from experience that this only makes matters worse, but, made desperate by the terrible burning and itching, he is for the time being indifferent to after effects. There are several forms of Eczema, the moist, or weeping kind, that comes in little pustules which discharge a watery, sticky fluid, which dries and peels off in bran-like scales. So profuse is the discharge at times that large scabs or crusts form, which are both painful and troublesome, and not easily removed. Red, disfiguring bumps and sores are symptoms of Eczema. The dry form usually attacks the head, hands and feet; the skin, becoming hard and rough, often cracking open and bleeding, and attended with much itching. Eczema depends upon a poisoned condition of the blood, and local applications, while soothing and cooling, and may to some extent relieve the inflammation and itching, cannot be considered cures, because external remedies do not reach constitutional or blood diseases. Salves, ointments, powders, lotions and soaps do more harm than good, by smearing over and sealing up the pores of the skin, thus forcing the poison back into the blood. S. S. S. antidotes and neutralizes the acid poisons and drives out of the circulation all impurities and humors, and the pure, rich blood that is carried to the diseased skin quickly allays the inflammation, opens the clogged up pores, and the skin becomes soft, smooth and ready to perform its proper functions. To be rid of Eczema you must first purify and build up the blood, and nothing so surely and effectually does this as S. S. S., the only guaranteed purely vegetable blood purifier. Send for our book on blood and skin diseases, and write our physicians for any information or advice you may desire. Medical advice and book free.

Mr. L. Marno, Escondido, San Diego County, Cal., writes: "My body broke out with a rash or eruption which in spite of all efforts to cure continued to get worse. The itching, especially at night, was simply terrible; it would almost disappear at times, only to return worse than ever. I had tried many highly recommended preparations without benefit, and hearing of S. S. S. determined to give it a fair trial, and was inexpressibly delighted when a few bottles cured me entirely, removing every blemish and pimple from my body. I shall not fail to recommend S. S. S. whenever an opportunity occurs."

An Unpleasant Walk.

"The right of burial," says The East London Church Chronicle, "in the churchyard of a parish in the north of London is being keenly disputed by the rector of the parish. Addressing his congregation on the subject the other Sunday, he wound up with the following: 'In fine, if you submit to this outrageous imposition, then in a few years, when our call to rest shall come, we shall have to walk over five miles to find graves for ourselves.'"

"This, if we remember rightly, was the distance St. Denis, who carried his head under his arm, walked on his way to Paris."

New Fireproof Shutter.

A new shutter has been invented to prevent fire getting either in or out of a window. It is of sheet metal, which is impervious to fire and yet is much lighter than the ordinary wooden shutter. The slats are made concave in form, but otherwise closely resemble the slats usually employed in wooden structures.

COVINA, July 27.

Incorporations and Its Costs.

DURING the past few weeks a number of carefully prepared articles from the pen of some of our leading citizens have been published in the ARGUS showing the many advantages which will accrue to the community by local self government. These articles have been convincing and none have been able to refute them, and today the opposition is making a stand at their last stockade "Expense."

No one denies that local self government can be conducted without additional taxation but this taxation is not in the nature of a burden, but as an investment from which we are justified in expecting handsome dividends in the shape of street improvements, added value to property, improved sanitary conditions and an improved moral tone to the community which will attract as nothing else the desirable home seekers. The opponents of incorporation however are for purposes best known to themselves magnifying the cost of government, so by request the ARGUS reproduces an article published in its issue of May 4, dealing with this side of the question:

The question of the necessary expenses which must be incurred if the town is incorporated is the one most frequently discussed. A conclusion can be approximately arrived at by investigating the records of towns of the sixth class. We have often heard anti-incorporation men refer to Azusa as an example why we should not incorporate. We are willing to accept the gauge and show by the clerk's records of that city the very limited expense which incorporation entails upon the citizens of Azusa.

In the first place Azusa pays its marshal $50 per month, for which sum he performs the duties of night watchman, road overseer, tax collector and water rate collector. Secondly, a clerk at a salary of $35 per month, for which salary he also acts as assessor. Thirdly, a recorder who draws no salary, but is allowed to appropriate any fines which he may enforce, provided they do not exceed a certain amount each month, in which last event the surplus goes to swell the city treasury. Under these conditions this official is no expense to the taxpayers. Fourthly, a treasurer who is allowed 1 per cent for all moneys handled by him. Fifthly, an attorney at a salary of $25 per month. Lastly, there is the printing bill, which during the twenty-nine months that Azusa has been a city has only averaged $100 per month. In this latter particular it should be remembered that the printing expenses are necessarily heavier during the first year as all ordinances have to be published. Even this does not appear to be a very heavy burden upon the tax payers. Probably in Covina it would cost the head of each family four cents per month during the first year. And yet we have heard this advanced as a reason why we should not incorporate.

This is the sum total, $118.51 per month, of conducting the city government of Azusa.

Since incorporation the citizens of Azusa have bonded their town for $21,500 for the purchase of their domestic water and sewer system. These bonds were sold at a premium of $3600, which latter amount was expended in the installation of 200 water meters, 18 fire plugs, 600 feet of fire hose and a reel cart, giving the town a thorough fire protection on every street. The purchase of the domestic water system has reduced the water rate from a flat rate of $1.25 for residence and lot to a meter rate of 75 cents for 7,500 gallons. We state with authority that this reduction in the water alone more than pays the entire city tax. The 75 cent rate keeps the system in repair and creates a sinking fund for the payment of the bonds with interest.

The citizens of Covina are today paying for water service $2.25 for for what their more fortunate brethren in Azusa under incorporation pay 75 cents.

THE failure of Los Angeles County to have an exhibit at the Inter-National Convention of the Epworth League, held in Mechanics Pavilion, San Francisco, last week, was a lost opportunity on the part of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles to advertise Southern California.

Over 19,000 eastern delegates registered at the convention hall, and a very large per cent could have been attracted this way by an exhibit such as the wonderful productiveness of this county warrants. Other sections had creditable exhibits in charge of competent men and these are the localities that are reaping the harvest of the travel and the advertising that will accrue thereby, for every delegate upon his or her return will in a sense be a missionary for the localities they have visited. The writer, who wore a Southern California badge, was continually accosted by strangers from the East who desired to be directed to the Los Angeles exhibit and it was with considerable chagrin that he was compelled to admit that Los Angeles for once had been negligent in the matter. Five booths had by request been reserved for the Los Angeles exhibit but for some unaccountable reason at the last moment the authorities who were in charge of the convention were notified that they would not be required.

Had Mr. Frank Wiggins, who is now in charge of the Los Angeles exhibit in Buffalo, been at home, this oversight would never have occurred. He has done more to successfully advertise Southern California than any other man in the State, and while he is doing magnificent work in Buffalo, we look forward to the day when he will return to assume his duties as Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in Los Angeles.

Now that the coast line of the Southern Pacific from Los Angeles to San Francisco has been opened the terror of the heat, during the summer months, of the Mojave desert and the San Joaquin valley are a thing of the past. This line for scenic grandeur, freedom from dust and heat excels any line in the state, On the return trip you can leave San Francisco at 9 a. m. and during the entire day the traveler passes through a country which has the appearance of one vast natural park beautifully dotted with oak and elm, the spreading limbs of which are draped in moss. Towards evening the ocean is reached at Oceano and then for miles the train skirts the Pacific and should it be a moonlight-night words are inadequate to express the beauty of the shimmering reflection of the moon upon the placid bosom of this vast expanse of water. Arriving at Santa Barbara at 10:30 p. m. a stop is made for the night and the traveler continues his journey by daylight in the morning.

Do you want to make Covina a city? If so, now is your time. Do you want better government? If you do vote for it. Do you want cleaner streets? If you do you have a chance to get them. Have you any interest in public improvements? Those things only come by concerted effort, and concerted effort can only be had by organization. The city government has power to refrain unwise or unlawful acts. The county government has only power to punish or attempt to punish after the act is done, for the reason that the governing power is so far away. The city government can act quickly. The county government acts slowly and sometimes don't act at all. Los Angeles county is large and populous. The supervisors are already an overworked body and can give only very meager attention to local affairs. Are you afraid of yourselves? If not, vote for the incorporation of Covina into a city that we may lay the foundation for greater and grander things to come.

Notice of Election.

Pursuant to an order of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, made June 17, 1901, notice is hereby given that an election will be held on the 30th day of July, 1901, for the purpose of determining whether the territory included in the boundaries hereinafter described, and a portion of the said County of Los Angeles, shall become incorporated as a municipal corporation of the sixth class, to be known as the "City of Covina;" that the boundaries of said proposed corporation, as established by said Board of Supervisors, are as follows, to-wit:

Situated, lying and being in the County of Los Angeles, State of California: Commencing at a point in the center line of Hollenbeck street, said point being the southwest corner of lot 4, block 15 of the Phillips tract in Los Angeles county, California, as recorded in Book 9, page 4, of Miscellaneous Records of said county; thence northerly along the center line of said Hollenbeck street, and the prolongation thereof, to a point on the north line of the right of way of the Southern Pacific Railway Company; thence east on the north line of said right of way to the west line of land of Henry V. Platt, thence north on the west line of land of said Henry V. Platt, to a point distant 660 feet south from the center line of Cypress avenue, formerly known as Azusa Canon Road; thence east from said point, and parallel to and distant 660 feet southerly from the center line of said Cypress avenue to a point in the prolongation, northerly, of the center line of Barranca street, as shown on the map of said Phillips tract; thence southerly and along the center line of Barranca street to a point therein, said point being the southeast corner of lot 1, block 14, of said Phillips tract; thence westerly along the center line of Blks 14 and 15 of said Phillips tract to the point of beginning.

And the number of inhabitants ascertained to reside therein is nine hundred and three (903).

At such election voters are required to cast ballots, which shall contain the words, "Incorporation, Yes" and "Incorporation, No," and also the names of persons voted for to fill the various elective municipal offices prescribed by law for municipal corporations of the sixth class, to-wit:

The names of five persons to serve as Trustees; the name of one person to serve as Clerk; the name of one person to serve as Treasurer; the name of one person to serve as Marshal.

Said election shall be conducted in accordance with the general election laws of the State, and shall be held in the limits of said proposed corporation, to-wit: At Chapman's vacant store room, on the northwest corner of Badillo street and Citrus avenue, which is hereby fixed as the polling place where said election must be held, on the 30th day of July, 1901; and the following named persons are hereby appointed as the officers of said election, to-wit:

Judges: A. Warner and A. F. Deeter; Inspectors: W. Hanson and D. V. Houser; Clerks: A. M. Seymour and O. W. Prescott; Ballot Clerks: E. P. Warner and G. O. Dudderar.

The polls must be open at 6 o'clock of the morning of the day of election, and must be kept open until five o'clock on the afternoon of the same day, when the polls shall be closed, to-wit: On July 30th, 1901.

E. S. FRIED, Chairman Board of Supervisors. Attest: C. W. Bell, County Clerk and ex-officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors. By R. Williams, Deputy.

A man ate a bowl of yeast to win a bet, and is reported to be all puffed up over his success.

A farm has been discovered in Texas in which there is no oil. A stock company has been formed to promote it.

An ostrich tried to eat a collar button and died. The govt. is about the only thing now remaining for the collar button to overthrow.

J. Pierpont Morgan called on King Edward recently, thus permitting the latter to see what a man who can run things without wearing towels looks like.

A Chicago woman alleges she can't live with her husband because he has a wooden leg. If all that's said by wives is true some of them are married to men with wooden heads.

Vicious tendencies in children, if unchecked, develop alarmingly, and the career that begins in mere loafers and the bullying and plaguing of neighbors is liable to end in prison. Corporal punishment may no longer be administered in the institutions of the state, but the law does not reach into the home, and a good spanking just at the right time and place may save a shooting later.

The real wealth of nations is not to be computed by statisticians, who can do no more than make rows of figures representing what they judge to be the value of its material possessions and resources and foot up the items to a grand total. The character and capacity of a nation rather than its stores of wealth, whether in one form or another, make and keep it great. The editor of the London Statist a few days ago observed that the natural resources of the United States do not wholly account for its present keen industrial rivalry with European nations. He keenly remarks that the red men had the same country and the same resources, though they never seriously competed for the trade and commerce of Europe.

It may or may not be true that King Humbert's assassin, Bresci, was tortured by his guards. Probably he was not dealt with very gently. But no amount of mere physical suffering which his keepers could have inflicted without running the risk of killing him could have been worse than that made necessary by the very nature of his sentence. He was in solitary confinement, with nothing to do and just sufficient food and exercise to make it impossible for him to sicken and die. The human mind cannot get along without occupation and remain sane. To be placed in a small chamber with only stone walls to look at would soon shatter the strongest nerves. To be confined thus with the certainty that the confinement is for life probably would result in partial or total derangement for almost any person living. Italy considers the death penalty too severe a measure for any crime, but it may well be doubted if the few minutes of terror before guillotine or scaffold is not a less fearful punishment than the slow process which drove Bresci to madness and then to suicide.

The refusal of the Secretary of War to remit the penalties imposed by court-martial on the rowdy West Point cadets will do much to enforce the wholesome reign of discipline and good order in that institution. His course is approved by the President. United States Senators of the highest influence interceded unsuccessfully in behalf of the cashiered cadets. The offenders must take their medicine, some in expulsion, some in suspension for different periods, and others in loss of rank. The penalties appear to have been equitably distributed according to the demands of justice in each case. If the egregious violations of discipline at the military academy had been condoned the students there at school to learn the duties of a soldier—the first duty being obedience—would have been corrupted by a talent which would have been virulent throughout their future careers. They never would have unlearned the bad lesson. The education of students at West Point is to fit them for the future duties of commanding officers in the army. If they do not learn first to obey they never will learn to command. The outbreak at the school was nothing less than mutiny. The mutineers were justly punished.

It is reasonable to suppose that the first successful attempt to travel by automobile from New York to Chicago will cause other automobilists to make similar experiments until the performance will cease to be regarded as unusual. The Chicago gentleman who, with his wife and a machinist, enjoys the honor of establishing the record, succeeded in covering the distance in less than eleven days, while the time actually consumed in traveling was only about ninety-eight hours. In other words, the automobile, if it had proceeded continuously, would have covered the distance from New York in only a little more than four days. The success of this experiment may be taken both as a sign that the American roadways are probably improving and as another inducement for continuing the good-roads movement. If the journey can be made now in approximately ten days, allowing for stoppages, breakdowns and delays due to imperfect roads, the time schedule should be reduced much further when the roads have been brought to the standard of perfection of European roads. With cheap and rapid automobiles, good roads and well-appointed inns lining the route, what would a few hundred miles matter to the traveler bent on seeing the country?

Sarah Bernhardt, whose ignorance of family life in America is as great as her artistic fame, has undertaken to give her fellow countrymen her ideas of female education on this side of the Atlantic. She begins by making the gratifying admission that the American woman leads a very different life from her French sister. It will be news throughout the millions of homes on this continent to learn from our recent visitor that "in America home scarcely exists. People live in hotels or employ housekeepers." This is so many leagues from the truth that it merely provokes a smile, but what do our readers of the gentler sex say to Sarah's assertion that the American woman "marries as late as possible," and that while in Europe the girls make haste "to escape from the family hearth and get married," in America the girls are "in no hurry to enter the bonds of matrimony, because to them marriage brings an obligation from which the unmarried are free." It would be interesting to know from what shallow gossip about American family life the divine but lax Sarah derived her stock of misinformation in regard to American homes and American girls. So far as our girls are concerned, no one has ever known them to show any backwardness about assuming the obligations of the married state. It is only a question with the great majority of them of meeting the desirable and desired mate. Instead of marrying as late as possible our girls are a great deal more prone to marry in haste, in spite of the ancient injunction about repenting at leisure, than their cautious and canny brothers. The American girl, guided by an instinct that seldom fails her, regards the fresh bloom of early womanhood as the most fascinating possession of her sex. It is the charm that brings the suitors to her side in droves so she can choose. After it has passed she knows that, save in exceptional cases, her matrimonial fate will be summed up in the aged spinster's prayer, "Good Lord, any man."

HALF A CENTURY YET.

When Will the National Pension Roll Come to an End?

A pension official in Washington has been trying to figure how long it will be before the national pension roll comes to an end. He practically admits that he is unable to solve the problem, owing to the fact that there is a difference from year to year in the increase and decrease of pensions, and there are also the Spanish war pensions to be considered, for which, outside of the Philippine service, there have already been filed two-thirds as many applications as there were troops actually engaged in the war. According to his figures, there were at the close of the year a total of 993,520 names on the roll, an increase of 2,010 from the previous year. During that year the names of 43,334 pensioners were dropped from the list, but this was more than offset by the 43,344 that were added, 4,689 of these being names restored that had been previously dropped for various reasons, says the Boston Herald. He then figured that if there was no increase at all and an annual average decrease of 43,000 a year, the pension roll would be exhausted in about twenty-three years, or in 1924. As throwing a little light on the question the statistics of the Mexican war pensioners may be quoted. This war ended fifty-five years ago, and yet there are to-day 8,352 survivors on the roll, as well as 8,151 widows, with a total number of beneficiaries amounting to 16,503, while on June 30, 1909, there was still on the pension list one survivor and 1,742 widows of the war of 1812. If the civil war pensions and those for the Spanish war are to run on anything like the same rate, the present century will be more than half gone before there is any promise of the wiping out of all pensions resulting from our wars of the past; and it may be stated that from 1801 to 1900 the pension system has cost Uncle Sam no less than $2,526, 974,010.

Just to Be Quarrelling.

"Edgar and I quarrel all the time about automobiles; he says he won't have a horse, and I say I won't have anything else."
"So you are going to get a conveyance of some kind?"
"Oh, goodness, no; half the time we can't scrape up streetcar fare."

The Duty of Mothers.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham's Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., and secure from a woman the most efficient advice without charge.

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swelled, and was generally miserable. She received an answer promptly with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

Nothing in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating woman's peculiar monthly troubles.

Advantage of Being a Cook.

Between 800 and 900 of the poor law school children of London have been asked to write essays on the theme, "What I Should Like to Be in Life and Why." Their chief characteristic is their altruism. They all want, or profess to want, to help somebody. Even the girl who "would like to be" a duchess is solely influenced by the desire "to be able to share in the government of the country and to help those who need helping." There is much force in the reason given by another girl in favor of being a cook—that "if you have a husband and he is in a bad temper a well cooked dinner may put him in a good humor."—London Post.

WHAT CAUSES DANDRUFF.

Greatest European Authority on Skin Diseases, Says It's a Germ.

The old idea was that dandruff is scales of skin thrown off, through a feverish condition of the scalp is exploded. Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says dandruff is a germ disease. The germ burrows under the scalp throwing up little scales of cuticle, and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root. The only hair preparation that kills dandruff germs is Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Not only cures dandruff, but stops falling hair and causes a luxuriant growth. Delightful hair dressing.

The Mermaid's Puss.

Neptune had returned from the market with a fine fish.
"How many pounds does it weigh?" inquired a mermaid.
"He is about a ten-er," responded Neptune.
"If he is a ten-er," returned the mermaid, "he cannot, of course, be a bass."
Neptune was stung by the retort, but was much too polite to reply in kind by any allusion to her scales.—New York Marine Journal.

FAME AND POVERTY

Have Walked Hand-in-Hand Through Herbert Spencer's Career.

Herbert Spencer, whose name will live in the world of thought as that of one of the nineteenth century's greatest thinkers, has recently passed his first birthday. After a lifetime of self-sacrifice and privations, the great philosopher finds himself at the threshold of the grave almost as poor in worldly possessions as when he started the career that has brought him so much fame, but so little pecuniary recognition. There is something almost pathetic in the life-work of a man like Herbert Spencer. The son of a schoolmaster, Mr. Spencer was educated very largely at home by his father, though he also went to a school at Bath, the head-master of which was his uncle. From 1837 to 1846 he held the profession of a civil engineer, and for five years later acted as sub-editor of the Economist before he turned to the work with which his name will always be identified.

It is as a popular philosopher that Herbert Spencer seems to hold his reputation, and yet one must read the account of his self-sacrifice and privation before one can realize the tremendous battle which the best known philosopher of this century fought before he found any readers at all. "Social Statics," certainly a rather unhandy book, took fourteen years to sell, although the edition ran only to 750 copies. The "Principles of Psychology," with a first edition of 750 copies, did not sell out for twelve years, and at the end of fifteen years the author lost no less than $8,000 through his publications. The strongest man, however, is the man who can wait, and Herbert Spencer waited. The scientific method of studying human life began to find willing pupils, not only among scientists, but also among young students of philosophy at the universities and workingmen, who gave up their evenings to the study of technical or social sciences. Few books of philosophy have enjoyed so wide a popularity or sale as the "Data of Ethics," where flowing and persuasive argument delight and enchant the reader.

IS STILL IN PRISON.

Published Report of Mrs. Maybrick's Release Was Untrue.

Several American newspapers recently published the statement, emanating from London, that Mrs. Maybrick had been secretly released from Woking prison by order of King Edward, and that she had sailed for the United States. The report, like many others of its kind, proved untrue.

About ten years ago Mrs. Maybrick was tried in London and found guilty of having poisoned her husband. The evidence went to show that she purchased arsenic and gave it to her husband.

MRS. FLORENCE MAYBRICK.

It was also adduced at the trial that the dead man was an habitual user of arsenic, and on this ground the residents of the American colony in London and many leading Englishmen believed that the woman was innocent. Many efforts were made to induce the late Queen Victoria to pardon Mrs. Maybrick, but they were uniformly unsuccessful. At the time of King Edward's accession to the throne it was rumored that he would extend a pardon to the American woman.

Honey From Stingless Bees.

W. K. Morrison, the bee expert attached to the Imperial department of the West Indies, has recently discovered several colonies of stingless bees in the island of Monserrat. He is now trying what can be done by the use of modern hives to improve their honey producing capabilities. Modern apiarists are of opinion that they can make the honeybee conform to almost any conditions, so that Mr. Morrison's experiments will be watched with some interest. The honey of the stingless bee is clearer and thinner than that of ordinary commerce.

SCHOOL CLOSED

The Teacher Injured in a Run-away Accident and Reported To Have Gone Insane

In October, 1896, one Monday morning, the Rushford school did not open and it was reported that the teacher had gone insane. The physician in attendance pronounced the trouble nervous prostration, and said that school work was mentally and physically impossible. The teacher, who is now Mrs. L. A. Gullickson, of Rushford, Minn., in a recent interview published in the Star of that place, gives the true story of the event.

"To begin at the beginning," she said, "when I was about seven years of age a sudden fright brought on a dreadful condition of nervousness. When, in 1896, I was injured in a run-away accident, this, combined with my former trouble, made me so ill that I was unable to open school the following Monday."

"Was it true that you were reported to be insane?" asked the interviewer.
"Yes, and the members of my family thought that I was becoming so. Words do not express the agony I endured with my head and eyes. The least noise would cut through my nerves like a knife. I was hot and cold by flashes, had piercing pains in my temples and in the back of my head and a red mist was constantly before my eyes."

"I was dizzy and faint with fearful nausea, which nothing relieved. I could take no solid food for ten days, but lived on milk and lime-water. When the doctor had treated me for nearly six weeks without helping me, Mrs. J. Webster, a nearby friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I took them 'albeit' for not quite three months and was perfectly cured. I have never heard of a single case where they did not prove beneficial and know of several persons who have taken them successfully for rheumatism."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are not like other medicines. They act directly on the blood and nerves. This makes them invaluable in such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions and all forms of weakness either in male or female. At all druggists or direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Price 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50.

A Condensed Report of the Important Happenings During the Week

Against Deer Hunters—San Francisco Mint Count—Runaway Team Lassoed—Carp Becoming Numerous—Diamond Ring Found

Hollister is to have a monthly paper in the interests of temperance.

A twelve-headed cabbage is a freak which a Calaveras county rancher exhibits.

A Healdsburg rancher has grown a wizard production in the shape of white "black" berries.

Charles Scheper of San Francisco was divorced from his wife and married again to her within twenty days.

Los Gatos Creek is said to be a wriggling mass of fish, which are dying in places where the water is extremely low.

The Riverside Machine Brick Company is turning out pressed brick by the new dry process at the rate of 25,000 a day.

Twenty-three thousand bags of grain were destroyed in a field fire at Williams, near Willows, in the northern part of the State.

A valuable diamond ring, which was lost at the burning of a hotel in Dinuba a year ago was found by workmen clearing away the debris.

The highest fines ever imposed on Chinese fan-tan players in San Francisco, was a few days ago, when eighteen celestials were ordered to pay $100 each or spend fifty days in jail.

A runaway team on the streets of Fresno was cleverly stopped by a Mexican, vaquero named Herman. He dashed after the team on horseback, and lassoed one at the first cast of his lariat. The feat was loudly applauded.

Carp have become so numerous in Lake Chabot, the main reservoir of the Contra Cost Water Company, that the managers have employed fishermen to seine the lake. Several tons of carp have already been caught.

Yuba City.—A man named Charles McDonald was drowned in the river at this place. He went into the river to save a dog from drowning, and took a cramp and sank in thirty feet of water. The body has not yet been recovered.

Rev. John Herr of Lima, O., has brought to the Epworth League Convention at San Francisco, one of the oldest printed Bibles in existence. It was published in Zurich, Switzerland, in 1568. It has been in his family for fourteen generations.

San Jose.—Owners of stock ranges on the Mount Hamilton range of mountains, lying east of this county, and which is considered one of the best deer-hunting grounds in this part of the State, have begun violent opposition to hunting deer with hounds, and have organized to prevent it.

San Francisco.—The work of counting the gold coin in the mint has been completed by the experts in charge. The amount inspected and weighed, was found intact to the dollar, and has now been checked up three times by as many different sets of men, so that there is no possibility of error.

The completion of the count sets at rest the theory that the recent shortage of $30,000 at the mint was the result of a miscount. Nothing whatever was disclosed by the secret service agents or Superintendent Leach relative to the search for the thief.

Fair Estate Distribution

San Francisco.—Superior Judge Troutt has granted the petition of the children of the late James G. Fair for a distribution of the personal property now in the hands of the executors and ordered the immediate surrender to them of $5,000,000 as the share to which they are entitled under the provisions of Senator Fair's will.

Bonds of the value of $2,500,000 are reserved from the decree of distribution to meet the demands of the attorneys for the executors, and the fees of the latter. It is also stipulated that in the event of Mrs. Nettie Draven being able to prove herself the lawful widow of Senator Fair she shall be permitted to share in the reserved portion.

EAGLE TAKES BABY

Carried Eight Miles—Mother on Mule—back in for the Rescue

San Bernardino.—News was received here of a terrific battle which was fought between a woman and a gigantic eagle at Box S., a stage station on the line between Victor and Gold Mountain, about fifty miles north of here.

Mrs. Emma Goulding, who keeps the station at that point, was sitting in the yard with her six-months-old baby in a cradle by her side, a gigantic bald eagle swooped down, seized the child in its talons, and made for its nest. The mother was horrified, and she believed her child lost forever. Her fear lasted but a moment, however, and with the strength and courage which come with desperation, she hastily unfettered a mule which was tied near by, mounted the animal, and began a chase after the big bird and her infant.

The eagle made directly for its nest in a rock cliff over eight miles away. Still carrying the infant, its flight was retarded, the child weighing about twenty pounds, and by riding furiously the mother was able to keep near the bird. When the cliff was reached, the bird deposited its human burden in its nest, high up among the rocks, and the mother found that it would be impossible to scale the height and rescue the baby.

She rode the mule around the bottom of the cliff succeeded in finding a place where she could ascend, and when the top was reached she hastily untied the long stake rope from around the animal's neck, made it fast to a rock, and, seizing a club she descended the rope, hand over hand until the nest was reached. There she found the child securely deposited on a ledge of rock, but on attempting to rescue it she was attacked by the eagle, and a fierce struggle ensued.

The plucky woman, high up in the air, after a hard fight, killed the great bird, but no sooner had she done so than its mate arrived at the nest and renewed the attack upon her.

She killed the second eagle also, and then found that it would be impossible for her to scale the cliff with the child in her arms. She solved the difficulty by tearing her skirt into strips and making it into a rope, which she attached to the stake rope suspended from above, and made the descent to the bottom. Torn by the attacks of the birds, and battered and bruised by the sharp rocks, she took her child in her arms and by a circuitous route reached her mule at the top of the cliff.

She mounted the animal and began her journey over the desert eight miles to the stage station, where she arrived at 8 o'clock with her little one safe and sound.

Whipple is Arbitrary

San Francisco.—News from Unalaksa received gives further details of the arbitrary acts of Federal Commissioner Whipple, who recently arbitrarily fined sailors and masters of ships, presumably to increase his own fees.

On the fourth of July the master of the British ship Glenora hoisted the English flag in honor of the American holiday. Judge Whipple was enraged when he saw the British flag and sent an officer aboard and hauled it down. News of this outrage reached Capt. Harry Knox of the United States gunboat Concord, which was in the harbor.

He personally went aboard the Glenora, hoisted the British flag, returned to his own vessel and then fired a salute in honor of the Englishman's country. The incident has added to the unpopularity of Whipple, who is a protegee of Judge Noyes of Alaska.

Will Spend a Whole Carload of Money

Chicago.—Elks from the copper country of Lake Superior promise to leave a long red trail behind them at the annual gathering at Milwaukee next week. Eighty big copper men have fixed up a plan whereby they design trouble for the entire city of Milwaukee. Not one of them will spend a cent except it be in bright, new red coppers. The amount collected for the use of the party is $11,000, and a special car has been turned over to them by the St. Paul road to transport the coin to its destination. At Milwaukee the train will be met by an armed wagon and four mounted guards. The wagon is to be stationed at a central point for the convenience of the eighty Elks, and all hotel, bar, cigar, street-car, carriage and other bills are to be paid in this way. The scheme was devised as an advertisement for the copper country, and the party was selected because of its ability to put money into circulation.

Potatoes are Being Sent East

Through orders that have been received in Los Angeles for potatoes the effect of the droughty period that has prevailed in Kansas, Texas, Missouri and the central states is made manifest.

Los Angeles shippers for the first time in the history of the shipping trade have been called upon to supply a deficiency in the eastern potato crop. For the week so far, fourteen carloads of potatoes have gone East, distributed from Paso to Denver, and thence in smaller lots to firms further East. In Los Angeles good potatoes are bringing $1.25 c.o.b. per cental on track, the shipper taking no risk.

Reports from Kansas are to the effect that the early potato crop, being the one upon which greatest dependence is made, is entirely ruined. In the Kaw valley at Kansas City, Wyandotte and Argentine, all vegetation is destroyed, with the potato vines dead.—L. A. Herald.

Syracuse (N. Y.)—The shelter for homeless girls in this city was destroyed by fire early this morning. Forty-one inmates escaped in their night clothes. One teacher is missing.

FOR THE FARMER

A Few Items Gathered for the Interest of Our Rural Readers.

High Price for Grapes—Potatoes Are Being Sent East—State Road Oiling—Irrigated Beets—Pear Blight and Bees—Encouraging News

The most careful inspection of the orchards of Thomas Goach, J. J. McClellan and James Barlow at Rivera shows that the orchards of these growers are as clean as any in the county, notwithstanding the fact that they are surrounded on all sides by purple scale. The fact that these orchards have been kept clean by an annual treatment for insect pests is a most conclusive argument against the individual's waiting for his neighbors to disinfect their trees before making a move for himself. The statement regarding these three orchards is not made loosely, but from an examination of each tree individually. This fact, announced as it is by an inspector who knows what he is talking about, ought to silence the excuses so often heard from the growers who try to minimize their own delinquencies by finding fault with their surroundings. Let each one remember that the burden of keeping his premises clean falls upon himself, and then all the neighborhood effort, official assistance and encouragement of public opinion may act as a strong supplement to individual effort.—Los Angeles Times.

Their Own Markets

News dispatches from the seat of prunes indicate that a new deal is about to be inaugurated, which is to be the selling delivered plan of disposing of the prune crop. It is stated that Ex-President Bond is now in the East to look over the field with a view of establishing selling agencies. He has become impressed with that idea without question, and as his constituents are tired of waiting for local orders that never come, and advertising for things it would not bring, the time is ripe for such a movement. The prune men had great and lasting trouble with the past year's contracts. The party of the first part couldn't, the party of the second part didn't, and the party of the third part, being the consumers, were not consulted and it is no wonder the contract was of little avail. But things begin to look better for an industry when the votaries take the business into their own hands, and that is just what is doing up about San Jose.—California Cultivator.

State Road Oiling

I saw the outfit recently authorized by the State at work oiling the road leading northward from Etiwanda station, on my way to San Bernardino. The experiment is being tried on a very sandy portion of the highway, several miles in extent prior, it is stated, to oiling the desert roads as far as the State appropriation will permit. The work was being most thoroughly done, and it is to be hoped the experiment will prove of permanent assistance in bringing these impossible sandy highways into shape for heavy traffic. While at Riverside I saw hundreds of orange trees so covered with the lime dust from the macadam, that they appeared to have been sprayed. The general use of oil will soon be necessary to protect the trees, as well as to make the roads both comfortable and useful for summer travel.—Los Angeles Times.

High Price for Grapes

The grape growers of the San Gabriel valley are jubilant for they have been offered and have accepted for the new crop of wine grapes, $25 a ton.

The offer was made July 16 to the growers, as an association, by President H. J. Woolcott, who had called a special meeting for the purpose at Pasadena.

The meeting was attended by representatives from every section between Sierra Madre and Pasadena to Cucamonga, and also from the San Fernando, Artesia and Norwalk sections.

Mr. Woolcott's offer, which he said came from New York purchasers, was greeted with cheers, and was quickly accepted by unanimous vote, thus shutting out the Southern California wine men, who have for years handled the local grape crop nearly always upon their own terms. The wine men's offer this year was $18 a ton.

The New Yorkers are to take 2500 tons at the $25 figure, leaving a balance of about 1000 tons to be disposed of later.

The vines were reported to be in excellent condition everywhere and a bountiful crop is assured.

The highest price paid for twenty years past in this section for wine grapes was $16.50.—L. A. Express.

Irrigated Beets

Until quite recently it was the prevailing opinion among sugar beet experts from Europe, who looked over the field in this country that sugar could not be raised successfully by irrigation. The plan was entirely contrary to the experience of beet growers in Europe, and was condemned as impracticable.

Nevertheless, certain enterprising Americans went ahead with their experiments in this direction, and the results have amply justified their confidence. The irrigated beet is an established factor in the American beet sugar industry. Colorado and Utah have factories for which beets are largely raised on irrigated lands, and California is meeting with similar success. So gratifying have been the results that within the last few months two companies have been organized with capital running up into the millions for the purpose of raising beets on a large scale on irrigated lands and building sugar factories to meet the supply of beets. The Arkansas Valley Beet Sugar and Land Company has bought a large tract of land in Colorado, which it intends to colonize and put into beets. A factory will be built in the near future, and others as the supply of beets may warrant. The Los Angeles Sugar Company has a large territory in California on which experiments in growing sugar beets have been carried on for some time, and which will be utilized in a similar manner.

An extraordinary thing in connection with this matter is that beets in Colorado and California show an unusually high sugar content. It may be premature to claim that this is a result of irrigation, since there are many other factors, as the practically virgin soil and the singular climatic conditions may cut a figure. But the fact exists that the irrigated beet is among the best sugar beets in the world.—Beet Sugar Gazette.

That Pitless Prune

The San Francisco Bulletin thus refers to the "wonderful new fruit, a pitless prune, produced by the wizard of horticulture, Luther Burbank of Santa Rosa." "Years of experiment, years of hard, patient work, were required to produce this latest marvel, which he has added to his long list of horticultural triumphs," and adds:

"This discovery will create a sensation among fruit dryers and fruit producers the world over. The pit of the ordinary prune has been a great drawback to the popular consumption of the delicious fruit. Burbank's creation has no pit, but a tiny seed that is edible and in no way requires removal."

Prune Marmalade

"In my home in Germany," writes a correspondent of the San Jose Mercury "I remember they put the raw prunes in a five-gallon copper kettle and cooked them. The mass was then passed through a colander to separate the pits and stones from the pulp, which my mother boiled down to the consistency of butter, and she added a few green walnuts to flavor it. It was put up in those days in stone jars, but would be put up in tin now. It was eaten on bread in the place of butter, and I preferred it to butter." This prune marmalade is a standard food in Germany, and should be popular in this country.

Pear Blight and Bees

The fruit growers appeared before the Kings County Board of Supervisors says the Hanford Journal, and submitted resolutions asking their aid in investigating the cause of pear blight. The committee requested the Board of Supervisors to make a definite statement as to whether they would take steps to have the bees removed from the district or not.

The supervisors stated that they would have to consult the District Attorney to see if they had the power to remove bees, and after consulting that official they advised the fruit growers to accept the proposition of moving the bees from the district during the blooming season.

The Good Effects of Apple Eating

The apple is such common fruit that few are familiar with its remarkable efficacious properties. Everybody ought to know that the very best thing they can do is to eat apples just before retiring for the night. The apple is an excellent brain food, because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than any other vegetable known. It excites the action of the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep and thoroughly disinfects the mouth. That is not all. The apple agglutinates the surplus acids of the stomach, helps the kidney secretions, and is one of the best preventatives known of disease of the throat.—Journal of Agriculture.

An African Food Plant

An annual plant growing in tropical Africa bears a nut which matures underground like the peanut, and has the shape of an egg. It is dark red with black stripes, like a bean. It furnishes a very white flour, which, after cooking, has a flavor, much like that of chestnuts. M. Baileud, an expert French chemist, who has had wide experience in the chemistry of nutriment, calls this fruit the first one found by him in a natural state which shows all the chemical properties of a perfect nutriment. The chemical composition is 58 per cent. of starchy substance, 18 per cent. oil, 4 per cent. cellulose substance, and 3 per cent. ashes. It will be seen that two pounds of these beans would supply the daily requirements of the human system. It is named woadou by the native Africans.—L. A. Herald.

MOONSHINERS WAR

Federal Officers Fired on by Illicit Distillers in Tennessee

Nashville.—A party of revenue officers were ambushed about six miles from Monterey, in Putnam county, and one man was killed, and two badly wounded. The posse of six was led by Deputy Collector Bell and they were creeping along a steep hillside above an illicit still, when they received an order to throw up their hands. They had barely located the speaker forty feet below, when a number of moonshiners poured a volley upon them.

Deputy Marshal Thomas Price was instantly killed, and C. Mackey was badly wounded. The officers returned the fire, but the moonshiners made the place so hot that Collector Bell and the survivors retired, and carried Mackey with them. One moonshiner was heard moaning and calling to his comrades that he had been mortally wounded. Collector Bell has gathered a posse and has started to recover the body of Price.

A POOR MILLIONAIRE.

Lately starved in London because he could not digest his food. Early use of Dr. King's New Life Pills would have saved him. They strengthen the stomach, aid digestion, promote assimilation, improve appetite. Price 25 cents. Money back if not satisfied. Sold by Dr. F. B. Elwood, druggist.

Mob Stormed Jail

Denver.—A mob of 500 men and boys made an attack upon the city jail here at night in an effort to obtain Charles Mullien's freedom, but were repulsed by the police, who used their clubs freely upon the heads of the leaders. Fred. Hoffman and Albert Guter were arrested as the leaders of the mob.

Mullien, who is a local anarchist, was preaching the doctrine on a street corner, and the police arrested him. He was released upon his promise to keep the peace, and not attempt to exhort on the streets again. He immediately went to the corner of Sixteenth and Larimer streets, and in a short time had a crowd gathered listening to his talk.

He denounced the national government in severe language, and scored the local government. A patrol wagon went to the scene and rearrested Mullien. The mob followed the wagon to the station, and demanded the prisoner's release. They then started to enter the station house, and were driven back and scattered by the police, not, however, until a number had been more or less injured by contact with the officer's clubs.

Accident to a Tramp

Boise (Idaho).—A remarkable accident to a tramp occurred near Glenns Ferry. The tramp, who gave his name as Edward Laundry, was riding a brakebeam on a westbound passenger train. As the train was coming down Mudbury Hill his clothes caught fire and were nearly burned off. He hung on, but when the trains reached the ferry, he dropped off in a fainting condition. His back was roasted from the hips up. It is thought the man will die.

Leader of Commonwealers Now in Business

Pittsburgh.—Gen. Coxey, leader of the commonweal army to Washington, is now a steel plutocrat, and has arrayed himself with the Schwabs, Carnegies and other masters in the industrial world. He is chief stockholder of the Coxey Steel Casting Company of Mt. Vernon, O., which has been incorporated to manufacture iron castings, open hearth, semi and crucible steel, brass and babbitt metal. The plant is in course of construction.

About the strike Coxey said: "It looks to me as if the manufacturers had rather the best of the situation. I suppose I will have trouble myself when my mills start up in October."

London.—"The rise of the North Sea coast or the sinking of the sea level has been confirmed," says the Berlin correspondent of the Standard, "by observations at the mouth of the Kaiser Wilhelm Canal. There has been a decrease in the depth of the water at the mouth of the Elbe of eighteen feet since 1895."

San Francisco.—Mrs. A. M. Allen, who was sick and in destitute circumstances, committed suicide by swallowing strychnine. The passing of Mrs. Allen is the close of their chapter in a pathetic family tragedy. Mrs. Allen's only child, a son, went down in the ill-fated City of Chester in San Francisco Bay, many years ago, when that vessel was cut in two by the Oceanic. Her husband, A. F. Allen, was murdered in Napa county three years ago.

Shepherd Boy.

Sunny sky and laughing rill,
Flowers growing on the hill,
Simple notes the blue-birds trill,
Seek they where their nest to build;
Softly blows a southern breeze,
And the fawn o'er the meadow flees.
Kind of heart, of features fair,
Shepherd boy for sheep doth care;
Few his years, his statue small,
He folds the sheep when shadows fall;
While of task he ne'er complains,
He is not of honor vain.

Heed thou, winter wakes from sleep,
In haste to shelter drive the sheep;
The sky the clouds soon overcast,
See, a storm is coming fast;
The laughing rill the cold will hush
Snow and sleet the flowers crush.

Seek thy heart; to frail thy form
To face Dakota's raging storm.
O shepherd boy! most sad thy fate,
Thou saw the storm not till too late;
In vain thou strove the sheep to fold,
Swiftly o'er the hills they bawled.

Under boughs the sheep doth lay,
Under snow thy frozen clay;
Master weeps this night till day
Father's advice winds bear away,
Poor boy! thou art dead and gone,
Parents will mourn thee long.

When sun returns to kiss this land
Another then will herd the band;
By thy grave will mother pray
And flowers train above thy clay;
Happy soul! thou art Jehovah's lamb
And pasture rich in Holy Land.

Shepherd Boy.

Sunny sky and laughing rill,
Flowers growing on the hill,
Simple notes the blue-birds trill,
Seek they where their nest to build;
Softly blows a southern breeze,
And the fawn o'er the meadow flees.
Kind of heart, of features fair,
Shepherd boy for sheep doth care;
Few his years, his stature small,
He folds the sheep when shadows fall;
While of task he ne'er complains,
He is not of honor vain.

Heed thou, winter wakes from sleep,
In haste to shelter drive the sheep;
The sky the clouds soon overcast,
See, a storm is coming fast;
The laughing rill the cold will hush
Snow and sleet the flowers crush.

Seek thy heart; to frail thy form
To face Dakota's raging storm,
O shepherd boy! most sad thy fate,
Thou saw the storm not till too late;
In vain thou strove the sheep to fold,
Swiftly o'er the hills they bawled.

Under houghs the sheep doth lay,
Under snow thy frozen clay;
Master weeps this night till day
Father's advice winds bear away,
Poor boy! thou art dead and gone,
Parents will mourn thee long.

When sun returns to kiss this land
Another then will herd the band;
By thy grave will mother pray
And flowers train above thy clay;
Happy soul; thou art Jehovah's lamb
And pasture rich in Holy Land.
